

WHY HEALTH INSURANCE ISN'T ENOUGH

When it comes to health care, there's good news and bad news. The good news is that health care has improved to the point where people typically survive illnesses previously thought to be terminal.* The bad news? Recovering from a serious illness takes time and money. While regular health insurance may cover your medical bills, it doesn't cover the real costs associated with lost income.

American General Life Insurance Company (American General Life) offers a variety of insurance products that provide "living benefits"— money to help your life keep moving forward while you recover from an illness or injury. A health setback is bad enough. Coverage from American General Life can help lessen the possibility of a financial setback.
